Proposal For a New MacAdmins Conference
7/3/2022

Purpose
To foster and encourage a community of MacAdmins interested in highly technical aspects of the Mac administration problem. These are topics that don't find a natural place in the normal conference rotation for the MacAdmins community.

Goal
To give new entrants to the MacAdmin community a place to learn highly technical details, and to provide a venue for all MacAdmins to hone their technical skills with like-minded people who wish to up their technical game.

Why
Technical skills are important, and solving and sharing deeply technical knowledge in Mac administration is important. Current conferences don't necessarily have the right audience for such presentations, and thus that information is not shared with with community, and those who might be interested in contributing to that knowledge, or learning how to contribute–don't have the opportunity.
